The screenshot shows the Zotero website's homepage. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links: Web Library, Groups, Documentation, Forums, Get Involved, silvia.tr, and Upgrade Storage. A dropdown menu is open from the silvia.tr link, showing options: My Profile, Inbox, Settings (highlighted with a blue arrow), and Log Out. The main content area features the text "Your personal research assistant" and "Zotero is a free, easy-to-use tool to help you collect, organize, annotate, cite, and share research." Below this is a "Download" button and information about availability for Mac, Windows, Linux, and iOS. A screenshot of the Zotero application interface is shown at the bottom, displaying a list of items in a library.

The screenshot shows the "Zotero Settings" page. The page has a header with the Zotero logo and a welcome message: "Welcome, silvia.trevenzoil - Settings - Inbox - Download - Log Out". Below the header is a navigation bar with links: Home, Web Library, Groups, Documentation, Forums, Get Involved, Search support, and Search. The main content area is titled "Zotero Settings" and includes links for Account, Profile, C.N., Privacy, Email, Feeds/API, and Storage. The "Profile" section contains fields for Real Name, Location, and a Profile Image (with a "Choose Image" button). The "Disciplines" section has a dropdown menu with "Humanities" selected. The "Affiliation" section has a text input field. The "About you" section has a rich text editor with a toolbar and a text area. The page footer has a link to "So what is it that you do around here?".
